

THE COURTS.

General Butler Again in the Courts.

More Reminiscences of the War—Military Rights in War Times Called in Question—The General in His Own Defence.

TWEED'S TRIAL.

Adjournment of the Trial Until After the Election—The Boss To Be Again Arraigned—The Grounds of Defence and Speculations as to the Result.

Important Inquisition for Grand Juries.

The trial of William M. Tweed, which had been arranged to succeed that of Stokes in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, did not begin yesterday after all. Mr. Tweed's retinue of lawyers was promptly on hand, and ready to go on with the trial. The District Attorney was ready and Judge Davis was ready, but the mention of election day evoked a multitude of objections entering on the trial yesterday, and after some discussion, it was finally agreed to postpone the trial till next Wednesday.

A new Grand Jury was selected yesterday for the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The names of the members were called out by the District Attorney, and the names of the Grand Jurors were called out by the District Attorney, and the names of the Grand Jurors were called out by the District Attorney.

ACTION AGAINST GENERAL BUTLER.

Reminiscences of the War—Military Rights During Martial Law. Yesterday the case of William A. Britton vs. General Benjamin F. Butler came on for trial in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Davis. The case was brought to trial by the District Attorney, and the names of the Grand Jurors were called out by the District Attorney.

The case of Charles Callender was called. He is indicted for the same offense as the case of the Grand Jury. The case of Charles Callender was called. He is indicted for the same offense as the case of the Grand Jury.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

Supreme Court—Special Term. An injunction was served on W. Jarvis, of No. 305 Fulton street, restraining him from allowing the use of his name in connection with the proposed candidacy of James D. Dunn for the office of Mayor of New York City.

THE HAVANA BANK ROBBERY.

Antonio Quero Y. Alvarez and Enrique Caesars, the Havana bank robbers, were again placed on trial yesterday morning in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore. The trial was held in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

TWEED'S TRIAL.

Adjournment of the Trial Until After Election—The Defence and Speculations as to the Result. According to the previously arranged programme the trial of Wm. M. Tweed was to follow on the heels of that of Stokes. At the assembling of the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, Judge Davis on the bench, Tweed's retinue of counsel put in a prompt appearance.

THE GRAND JURY.

Involving Inquisition Into the Conduct of Jurors—Overhauling Court Officers—Important Charge by Judge Davis. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judge Davis on the bench, as soon as the matter of the Tweed trial had been disposed of yesterday, the Grand Jury were called and sworn.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

The Sailors' Boarding House Keepers in Court—Acquittal of One of Them on a Technicality. Before Recorder John C. Wallace, who was indicted for a misdemeanor under the act of 1906, prohibiting persons from keeping sailor boarding houses without a license, was placed at the bar. Mr. John McKean appeared for the defendant, and Assistant District Attorney Rollins for the people. This is one of a number of indictments filed by the Grand Jury against the keepers of boarding houses for an alleged violation of the act of 1906.

ALLEGED CHILL MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

Dr. Rockwell notified Coroner Jones yesterday that he suspected a young colored girl, named Mary Shepard, with having taken the life of her illegitimate child, at No. 590 East Warren street, South Brooklyn. The Doctor said that when the child was born it was perfectly healthy, and he did not die until it was about a year old.

THE ANGELLOZ HOMICIDE.

Deputy Coroner Marsh yesterday made a post-mortem examination at 34 Thompson street on the body of Angelo, the Frenchman who died in his possession a pistol that the Spanish (Flores) told her he had for Kate Stoddard to shoot Goodrich with. She said one day, shortly after making the acquaintance of Goodrich, a lady called at her house, in Stanton street, and inquired whether there was a gentleman boarding there from Brooklyn.

of criminal justice in a case of life or death, and that an example may be made which will influence hereafter the administration of justice, and that it is the duty of the courts to see that the law is obeyed. The District Attorney, in his charge called particular attention to the statutes against disclosing the secrets of the Grand Jury room; against extortion of excessive fees by officers; against bribery, lotteries, violation of election laws, intemperance and emigrant swindling. Special attention was called to the conduct of jurors and court officers. A more important charge to a Grand Jury has not been delivered from this Bench for some time.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Dowling. Thomas Dunn, of No. 77 avenue D, was arraigned at the Tombs yesterday, charged with stealing $100 worth of goods from his employer, John R. Hunt, Co., No. 70 and 72 Reade street. It is charged that Dunn, who was employed by the above mentioned firm as a porter, had removed from his residence, on the 20th of this month, a quantity of goods, valued at $100, and had taken them to his home, where he had hidden them. He was arrested on suspicion by Officer J. J. Dunn, who was on duty at the time.

JEFFERSON MARKET POLICE COURT.

A Warm Proceeding. About three o'clock yesterday morning an Officer Sullivan, of the 10th Precinct, was passing the corner of Bedford and Carmine streets when he observed that the basement door under the drug store of Dr. Thomas C. Keck, located at that point, was open. He descended, and on entering, found a blazing fire in the furnace and evidence of great destruction. The fire was caused by a gas leak, and the damage done was estimated at $10,000.

COURT CALENDARS—THIS DAY.

Supreme Court—Circuit—1st—Held by Judge Davis—Oyer and Terminer Business. 2nd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Case on Short case calendar on Wednesday, November 5. 3rd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—General Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5. 4th—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Special Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

Supreme Court—Special Term. An injunction was served on W. Jarvis, of No. 305 Fulton street, restraining him from allowing the use of his name in connection with the proposed candidacy of James D. Dunn for the office of Mayor of New York City.

THE HAVANA BANK ROBBERY.

Antonio Quero Y. Alvarez and Enrique Caesars, the Havana bank robbers, were again placed on trial yesterday morning in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore. The trial was held in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

TWEED'S TRIAL.

Adjournment of the Trial Until After Election—The Defence and Speculations as to the Result. According to the previously arranged programme the trial of Wm. M. Tweed was to follow on the heels of that of Stokes. At the assembling of the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, Judge Davis on the bench, Tweed's retinue of counsel put in a prompt appearance.

THE GRAND JURY.

Involving Inquisition Into the Conduct of Jurors—Overhauling Court Officers—Important Charge by Judge Davis. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judge Davis on the bench, as soon as the matter of the Tweed trial had been disposed of yesterday, the Grand Jury were called and sworn.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

The Sailors' Boarding House Keepers in Court—Acquittal of One of Them on a Technicality. Before Recorder John C. Wallace, who was indicted for a misdemeanor under the act of 1906, prohibiting persons from keeping sailor boarding houses without a license, was placed at the bar. Mr. John McKean appeared for the defendant, and Assistant District Attorney Rollins for the people. This is one of a number of indictments filed by the Grand Jury against the keepers of boarding houses for an alleged violation of the act of 1906.

ALLEGED CHILL MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

Dr. Rockwell notified Coroner Jones yesterday that he suspected a young colored girl, named Mary Shepard, with having taken the life of her illegitimate child, at No. 590 East Warren street, South Brooklyn. The Doctor said that when the child was born it was perfectly healthy, and he did not die until it was about a year old.

THE ANGELLOZ HOMICIDE.

Deputy Coroner Marsh yesterday made a post-mortem examination at 34 Thompson street on the body of Angelo, the Frenchman who died in his possession a pistol that the Spanish (Flores) told her he had for Kate Stoddard to shoot Goodrich with. She said one day, shortly after making the acquaintance of Goodrich, a lady called at her house, in Stanton street, and inquired whether there was a gentleman boarding there from Brooklyn.

THE DETECTIVES' TRIALS.

First Day's Proceedings in the Case of Detectives Captain Irving and Farley.

Evidence of the Bank of England Lawyers and of the Counsel of McDonnell—The Confession of McDonnell as Given in London. The hearing of the case against Detective Officers Captain James Irving and Philip Farley on charges connected with the Bank of England forgery commenced yesterday morning in the court room of Police Headquarters. The Commissioners present were Messrs. South (President), Russell, Gardner and Duray. Ex-Judge Pierpont appeared for the Bank of England and Ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall for the accused. Messrs. Blatchford, Seward, Giraud and Da Costa, counsel for the Bank of England, were also present, and a large number of spectators were in attendance.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Dowling. Thomas Dunn, of No. 77 avenue D, was arraigned at the Tombs yesterday, charged with stealing $100 worth of goods from his employer, John R. Hunt, Co., No. 70 and 72 Reade street. It is charged that Dunn, who was employed by the above mentioned firm as a porter, had removed from his residence, on the 20th of this month, a quantity of goods, valued at $100, and had taken them to his home, where he had hidden them. He was arrested on suspicion by Officer J. J. Dunn, who was on duty at the time.

JEFFERSON MARKET POLICE COURT.

A Warm Proceeding. About three o'clock yesterday morning an Officer Sullivan, of the 10th Precinct, was passing the corner of Bedford and Carmine streets when he observed that the basement door under the drug store of Dr. Thomas C. Keck, located at that point, was open. He descended, and on entering, found a blazing fire in the furnace and evidence of great destruction. The fire was caused by a gas leak, and the damage done was estimated at $10,000.

COURT CALENDARS—THIS DAY.

Supreme Court—Circuit—1st—Held by Judge Davis—Oyer and Terminer Business. 2nd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Case on Short case calendar on Wednesday, November 5. 3rd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—General Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5. 4th—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Special Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

Supreme Court—Special Term. An injunction was served on W. Jarvis, of No. 305 Fulton street, restraining him from allowing the use of his name in connection with the proposed candidacy of James D. Dunn for the office of Mayor of New York City.

THE HAVANA BANK ROBBERY.

Antonio Quero Y. Alvarez and Enrique Caesars, the Havana bank robbers, were again placed on trial yesterday morning in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore. The trial was held in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

TWEED'S TRIAL.

Adjournment of the Trial Until After Election—The Defence and Speculations as to the Result. According to the previously arranged programme the trial of Wm. M. Tweed was to follow on the heels of that of Stokes. At the assembling of the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, Judge Davis on the bench, Tweed's retinue of counsel put in a prompt appearance.

THE GRAND JURY.

Involving Inquisition Into the Conduct of Jurors—Overhauling Court Officers—Important Charge by Judge Davis. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judge Davis on the bench, as soon as the matter of the Tweed trial had been disposed of yesterday, the Grand Jury were called and sworn.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

The Sailors' Boarding House Keepers in Court—Acquittal of One of Them on a Technicality. Before Recorder John C. Wallace, who was indicted for a misdemeanor under the act of 1906, prohibiting persons from keeping sailor boarding houses without a license, was placed at the bar. Mr. John McKean appeared for the defendant, and Assistant District Attorney Rollins for the people. This is one of a number of indictments filed by the Grand Jury against the keepers of boarding houses for an alleged violation of the act of 1906.

ALLEGED CHILL MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

Dr. Rockwell notified Coroner Jones yesterday that he suspected a young colored girl, named Mary Shepard, with having taken the life of her illegitimate child, at No. 590 East Warren street, South Brooklyn. The Doctor said that when the child was born it was perfectly healthy, and he did not die until it was about a year old.

THE ANGELLOZ HOMICIDE.

Deputy Coroner Marsh yesterday made a post-mortem examination at 34 Thompson street on the body of Angelo, the Frenchman who died in his possession a pistol that the Spanish (Flores) told her he had for Kate Stoddard to shoot Goodrich with. She said one day, shortly after making the acquaintance of Goodrich, a lady called at her house, in Stanton street, and inquired whether there was a gentleman boarding there from Brooklyn.

THE DETECTIVES' TRIALS.

First Day's Proceedings in the Case of Detectives Captain Irving and Farley.

Evidence of the Bank of England Lawyers and of the Counsel of McDonnell—The Confession of McDonnell as Given in London. The hearing of the case against Detective Officers Captain James Irving and Philip Farley on charges connected with the Bank of England forgery commenced yesterday morning in the court room of Police Headquarters. The Commissioners present were Messrs. South (President), Russell, Gardner and Duray. Ex-Judge Pierpont appeared for the Bank of England and Ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall for the accused. Messrs. Blatchford, Seward, Giraud and Da Costa, counsel for the Bank of England, were also present, and a large number of spectators were in attendance.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Dowling. Thomas Dunn, of No. 77 avenue D, was arraigned at the Tombs yesterday, charged with stealing $100 worth of goods from his employer, John R. Hunt, Co., No. 70 and 72 Reade street. It is charged that Dunn, who was employed by the above mentioned firm as a porter, had removed from his residence, on the 20th of this month, a quantity of goods, valued at $100, and had taken them to his home, where he had hidden them. He was arrested on suspicion by Officer J. J. Dunn, who was on duty at the time.

JEFFERSON MARKET POLICE COURT.

A Warm Proceeding. About three o'clock yesterday morning an Officer Sullivan, of the 10th Precinct, was passing the corner of Bedford and Carmine streets when he observed that the basement door under the drug store of Dr. Thomas C. Keck, located at that point, was open. He descended, and on entering, found a blazing fire in the furnace and evidence of great destruction. The fire was caused by a gas leak, and the damage done was estimated at $10,000.

COURT CALENDARS—THIS DAY.

Supreme Court—Circuit—1st—Held by Judge Davis—Oyer and Terminer Business. 2nd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Case on Short case calendar on Wednesday, November 5. 3rd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—General Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5. 4th—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Special Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

Supreme Court—Special Term. An injunction was served on W. Jarvis, of No. 305 Fulton street, restraining him from allowing the use of his name in connection with the proposed candidacy of James D. Dunn for the office of Mayor of New York City.

THE HAVANA BANK ROBBERY.

Antonio Quero Y. Alvarez and Enrique Caesars, the Havana bank robbers, were again placed on trial yesterday morning in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore. The trial was held in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

TWEED'S TRIAL.

Adjournment of the Trial Until After Election—The Defence and Speculations as to the Result. According to the previously arranged programme the trial of Wm. M. Tweed was to follow on the heels of that of Stokes. At the assembling of the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, Judge Davis on the bench, Tweed's retinue of counsel put in a prompt appearance.

THE GRAND JURY.

Involving Inquisition Into the Conduct of Jurors—Overhauling Court Officers—Important Charge by Judge Davis. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judge Davis on the bench, as soon as the matter of the Tweed trial had been disposed of yesterday, the Grand Jury were called and sworn.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

The Sailors' Boarding House Keepers in Court—Acquittal of One of Them on a Technicality. Before Recorder John C. Wallace, who was indicted for a misdemeanor under the act of 1906, prohibiting persons from keeping sailor boarding houses without a license, was placed at the bar. Mr. John McKean appeared for the defendant, and Assistant District Attorney Rollins for the people. This is one of a number of indictments filed by the Grand Jury against the keepers of boarding houses for an alleged violation of the act of 1906.

ALLEGED CHILL MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

Dr. Rockwell notified Coroner Jones yesterday that he suspected a young colored girl, named Mary Shepard, with having taken the life of her illegitimate child, at No. 590 East Warren street, South Brooklyn. The Doctor said that when the child was born it was perfectly healthy, and he did not die until it was about a year old.

THE ANGELLOZ HOMICIDE.

Deputy Coroner Marsh yesterday made a post-mortem examination at 34 Thompson street on the body of Angelo, the Frenchman who died in his possession a pistol that the Spanish (Flores) told her he had for Kate Stoddard to shoot Goodrich with. She said one day, shortly after making the acquaintance of Goodrich, a lady called at her house, in Stanton street, and inquired whether there was a gentleman boarding there from Brooklyn.

THE DETECTIVES' TRIALS.

First Day's Proceedings in the Case of Detectives Captain Irving and Farley.

Evidence of the Bank of England Lawyers and of the Counsel of McDonnell—The Confession of McDonnell as Given in London. The hearing of the case against Detective Officers Captain James Irving and Philip Farley on charges connected with the Bank of England forgery commenced yesterday morning in the court room of Police Headquarters. The Commissioners present were Messrs. South (President), Russell, Gardner and Duray. Ex-Judge Pierpont appeared for the Bank of England and Ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall for the accused. Messrs. Blatchford, Seward, Giraud and Da Costa, counsel for the Bank of England, were also present, and a large number of spectators were in attendance.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Dowling. Thomas Dunn, of No. 77 avenue D, was arraigned at the Tombs yesterday, charged with stealing $100 worth of goods from his employer, John R. Hunt, Co., No. 70 and 72 Reade street. It is charged that Dunn, who was employed by the above mentioned firm as a porter, had removed from his residence, on the 20th of this month, a quantity of goods, valued at $100, and had taken them to his home, where he had hidden them. He was arrested on suspicion by Officer J. J. Dunn, who was on duty at the time.

JEFFERSON MARKET POLICE COURT.

A Warm Proceeding. About three o'clock yesterday morning an Officer Sullivan, of the 10th Precinct, was passing the corner of Bedford and Carmine streets when he observed that the basement door under the drug store of Dr. Thomas C. Keck, located at that point, was open. He descended, and on entering, found a blazing fire in the furnace and evidence of great destruction. The fire was caused by a gas leak, and the damage done was estimated at $10,000.

COURT CALENDARS—THIS DAY.

Supreme Court—Circuit—1st—Held by Judge Davis—Oyer and Terminer Business. 2nd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Case on Short case calendar on Wednesday, November 5. 3rd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—General Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5. 4th—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Special Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

Supreme Court—Special Term. An injunction was served on W. Jarvis, of No. 305 Fulton street, restraining him from allowing the use of his name in connection with the proposed candidacy of James D. Dunn for the office of Mayor of New York City.

THE HAVANA BANK ROBBERY.

Antonio Quero Y. Alvarez and Enrique Caesars, the Havana bank robbers, were again placed on trial yesterday morning in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore. The trial was held in the Court of Sessions, before Judge Moore.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

TWEED'S TRIAL.

Adjournment of the Trial Until After Election—The Defence and Speculations as to the Result. According to the previously arranged programme the trial of Wm. M. Tweed was to follow on the heels of that of Stokes. At the assembling of the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, Judge Davis on the bench, Tweed's retinue of counsel put in a prompt appearance.

THE GRAND JURY.

Involving Inquisition Into the Conduct of Jurors—Overhauling Court Officers—Important Charge by Judge Davis. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Judge Davis on the bench, as soon as the matter of the Tweed trial had been disposed of yesterday, the Grand Jury were called and sworn.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

The Sailors' Boarding House Keepers in Court—Acquittal of One of Them on a Technicality. Before Recorder John C. Wallace, who was indicted for a misdemeanor under the act of 1906, prohibiting persons from keeping sailor boarding houses without a license, was placed at the bar. Mr. John McKean appeared for the defendant, and Assistant District Attorney Rollins for the people. This is one of a number of indictments filed by the Grand Jury against the keepers of boarding houses for an alleged violation of the act of 1906.

ALLEGED CHILL MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

Dr. Rockwell notified Coroner Jones yesterday that he suspected a young colored girl, named Mary Shepard, with having taken the life of her illegitimate child, at No. 590 East Warren street, South Brooklyn. The Doctor said that when the child was born it was perfectly healthy, and he did not die until it was about a year old.

THE ANGELLOZ HOMICIDE.

Deputy Coroner Marsh yesterday made a post-mortem examination at 34 Thompson street on the body of Angelo, the Frenchman who died in his possession a pistol that the Spanish (Flores) told her he had for Kate Stoddard to shoot Goodrich with. She said one day, shortly after making the acquaintance of Goodrich, a lady called at her house, in Stanton street, and inquired whether there was a gentleman boarding there from Brooklyn.

THE GOODRICH TRAGEDY.

Remarkable Narrative of the Murder as Given by Lucette Meyers to Mrs. Anna E. Park—Wherein Roscoe and Beach Are Concerned in the Case.

Mrs. Anna E. Park, the female physician who gave employment as a seamstress to Lucette Meyers, the witness in the Goodrich case, shortly after Mrs. Meyers' release from jail in May last, has made a statement concerning the woman, in which there are a few points of interest. Mrs. Park states that Lucette Meyers told her she had in her possession a pistol that the Spanish (Flores) told her he had for Kate Stoddard to shoot Goodrich with. She said one day, shortly after making the acquaintance of Goodrich, a lady called at her house, in Stanton street, and inquired whether there was a gentleman boarding there from Brooklyn.

THE DETECTIVES' TRIALS.

First Day's Proceedings in the Case of Detectives Captain Irving and Farley. Evidence of the Bank of England Lawyers and of the Counsel of McDonnell—The Confession of McDonnell as Given in London. The hearing of the case against Detective Officers Captain James Irving and Philip Farley on charges connected with the Bank of England forgery commenced yesterday morning in the court room of Police Headquarters. The Commissioners present were Messrs. South (President), Russell, Gardner and Duray. Ex-Judge Pierpont appeared for the Bank of England and Ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall for the accused. Messrs. Blatchford, Seward, Giraud and Da Costa, counsel for the Bank of England, were also present, and a large number of spectators were in attendance.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Dowling. Thomas Dunn, of No. 77 avenue D, was arraigned at the Tombs yesterday, charged with stealing $100 worth of goods from his employer, John R. Hunt, Co., No. 70 and 72 Reade street. It is charged that Dunn, who was employed by the above mentioned firm as a porter, had removed from his residence, on the 20th of this month, a quantity of goods, valued at $100, and had taken them to his home, where he had hidden them. He was arrested on suspicion by Officer J. J. Dunn, who was on duty at the time.

JEFFERSON MARKET POLICE COURT.

A Warm Proceeding. About three o'clock yesterday morning an Officer Sullivan, of the 10th Precinct, was passing the corner of Bedford and Carmine streets when he observed that the basement door under the drug store of Dr. Thomas C. Keck, located at that point, was open. He descended, and on entering, found a blazing fire in the furnace and evidence of great destruction. The fire was caused by a gas leak, and the damage done was estimated at $10,000.

COURT CALENDARS—THIS DAY.

Supreme Court—Circuit—1st—Held by Judge Davis—Oyer and Terminer Business. 2nd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Case on Short case calendar on Wednesday, November 5. 3rd—Held by Judge Van Brunt—General Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5. 4th—Held by Judge Van Brunt—Special Term—Adjourned until Wednesday, November 5.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Washington, Oct. 30, 1913. No. 53. American Wood Paper Company vs. Fibre Dyeing Company—Appeal from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of New York—The Wood Paper Company, owners of certain patents for inventions for the manufacture of paper pulp and paper from wood, straw and other vegetable substances, brought suit against the Fibre Dyeing Company, for infringement of their patents.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

Supreme Court—Special Term. An injunction was served on W. Jarvis, of No. 305 Fulton street, restraining him from allowing the use of his name in connection with the proposed candidacy of James D. Dunn for the office of Mayor of New York City.

THE HAVANA BANK ROBBERY.

Antonio Quero Y. Alvarez and Enrique Caesars, the Havana bank robbers, were again placed on trial yesterday morning in the Court of Sessions, before